

ABSTRACT

A system and methods for blocking submission of online forms to suspicious web sites comprising detection of sensitive form fields before a form is submitted, analysis of URL and certificate target sites against security criteria to generate an alert codes and matching alert code with blocking criteria to generate a block submission message.